

in 1989, and John reoriented his professional direction and became more interested in residential work. The first home he conceptualized for he and Judy is on Scenic Drive. Constructed of his signature glass and wood, the home is a magnificent statement and features the first use of his proprietary glass-joining technique. Unfortunately, "God got mad and burned that house down," Thodos says. Since rebuilt by John and now occupied by a new owner, the home has been featured in the Italian publication L'architettura and has received an American Institute of Architects Honor Award and Best of Category at the Monterey Bay Design Competition.
